annotated data analysis

group 1

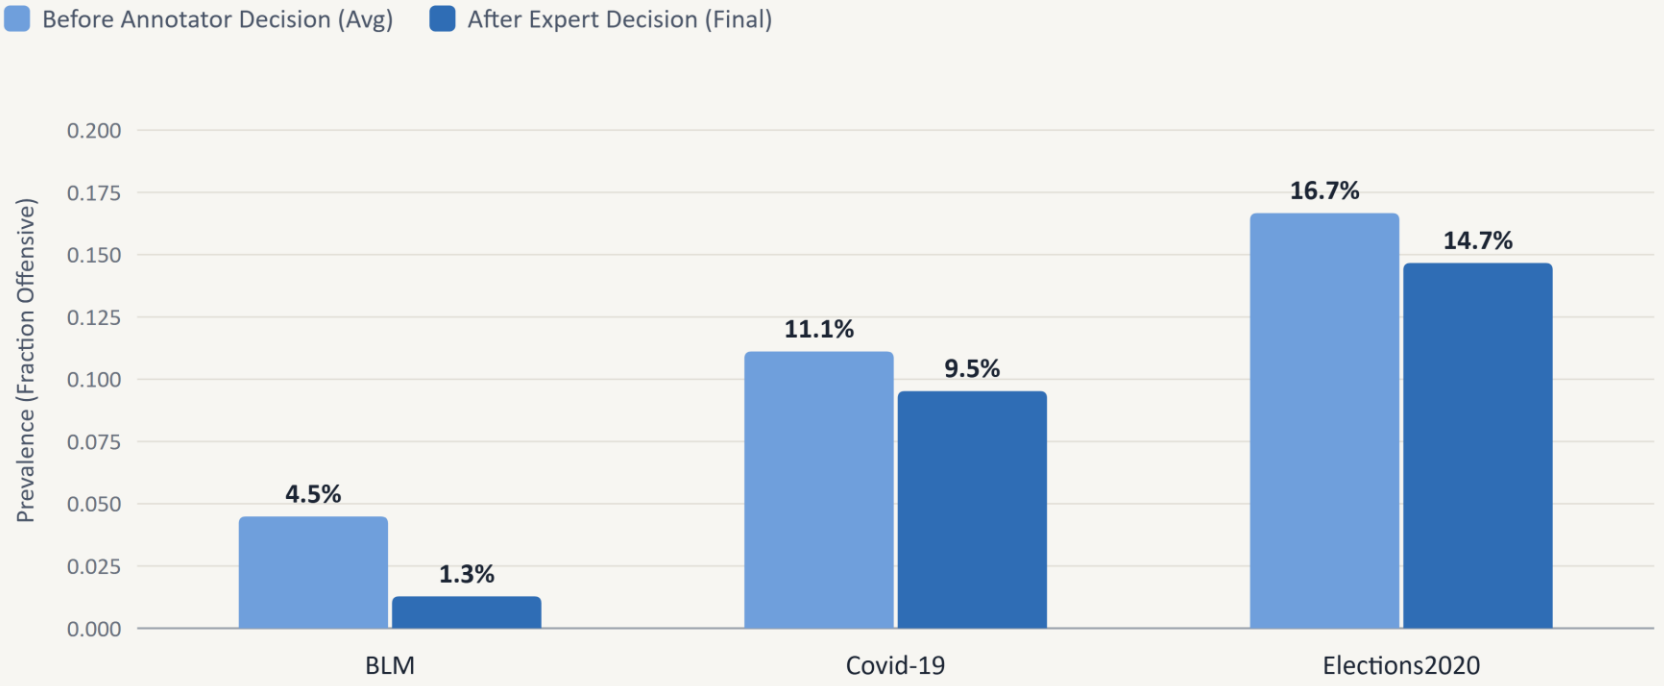

Annotation Workflow Overview

Inter-Annotator Agreement: PA vs. Bennett's S

Offensiveness Prevalence by Topic

AGREEMENT WITH ORIGINAL ANNOTATION

92% agreement with the original labels

91.7%
Percentage agreement (198 of 216)

0.90
Gwet's AC1 (baseline: 0.89)

0.50
Cohen's κ, for reference

Ours vs. original (n = 216)

	Orig. off.	Orig. not
Ours off.	11	7
Ours not	11	187

We found only 11 of the 22 tweets the original marks as offensive.

By topic

Topic	Agree.	AC1	Off. ours	Off. orig.
Covid-19	92.1%	0.90	6 / 63	7 / 63
BLM	93.6%	0.93	1 / 78	6 / 78
Elections	89.3%	0.86	11 / 75	9 / 75

Prevalence: ours 8.3%, original 10.2%. We under-label BLM and over-label Elections.

WHY WE DEVIATE ON BLM

BLM: we found only 1 of the 6 offensive tweets

The 5 tweets we missed (original: offensive)

#230 · batch 3 — both: not offensive
"The hits just keep coming…what a turd."

#239 · batch 3 — both: not offensive
"You don't give a fuck about George Floyd bro, stop fucking acting like you care."

#503 · batch 6 — both: not offensive
"THAT MAN KNEW EXACTLY WTF HE WAS DOING! […] FUCK YOUR 'THIRD DEGREE'"

#575 · batch 7 — both: not offensive
"[…] this MF will get off because of stupidity. Crap, here comes another riot oh I mean protest."

#499 · batch 6 — discussed → not offensive
"Look at this! Scum #londonriots #londonprotests"

6	1	5
offensive in the original	found by us (#549)	missed – all with vulgar language

1. Shared blind spot
   4 of the 5 were "not offensive" for both of us, so they were never discussed. With only two annotators, one shared slip is enough – e.g. #575: I overlooked what "MF" means.
2. Discussions ended lenient
   All 5 BLM discussions ended "not offensive" (Covid-19: 3 of 8, Elections: 6 of 15 ended offensive).
3. The codebook leans lenient on BLM
   4 of its 5 BLM examples are "not offensive" despite insults ("Y'all mfs … stupid asses"). We never revised them, and "speculative offensiveness" rules out unclear targets ("what a turd").

BLM has the highest agreement with the original (93.6%) but the lowest κ (0.27)

REPRESENTATIVE DISCUSSION → CODEBOOK CHANGE

Where does political critique end?

Tweet #488 · Elections2020 · batch 6

"Corrupt Joe will be impeached immediately if he is elected! America can not have a felon and an American traitor at the helm [...] NO PEACEFUL TRANSFER OF POWER EVER HATE BIDEN AT ALL COST!"

A1: "call for violence"

A2: cites speculative offensiveness: "the only possible offensive words are … a felon and an American traitor"

A1: cites the Offensive definition: "violent […] language expressed with angry, fighting or hurtful words"

A1: "i think calling out for violence is not allowed. lets move it to expert round"

Expert decision: offensive

NEW RULE IN CODEBOOK

Political critique vs. hostile incitement

Not offensive: calling politicians liars, cheats or corrupt without profanity, e.g. #330 "Your an enabler, a liar and a cheat!!"

Offensive: accusations plus incitement to hatred or unrest, e.g. #488

But: the original labels #488 as not offensive

Our sharper rule moved us further from the original annotation on this case.

Also added in new codebook version: rule on threats and wishing death or harm (from discussions on #140, #256 and tweet #506 "Drop dead...")